JAMESTOWN INTRODUCES THE FULL SERVICE WATER TREATMENT PLAN

JAMESTOWN CHEMICAL

a leader in water treatment technology for nearly 20 years, is introducing a totally new, all inclusive Full Service Plan which will completely eliminate all your water treatment headaches. The plan covers all facets of water treatment including chemicals, equipment, handling and drum disposal so that virtually all your corrosion, scale and biofouling worries disappear.

We begin our contract with a thorough analysis of your current system and an evaluation of its performance. Then we prepare a documented, customized program of procedures which we will perform to correct current discrepancies and prevent problems from recurring. Next, we continuously evaluate your entire system and routinely maintain all your operations including equipment, treatments, required analysis and record keeping. A field service technician will deliver all the necessary materials, fill the chemical storage tanks and remove all transfer drums from the premises. Finally, once our exclusive service program is in effect, you will see the successful results of an extremely efficient program with less work, less worry and less waste.

From a financial perspective, you will also realize savings through increased system operating efficiency, decreased manpower requirements and reduced chemical inventories.
